

Wednesday, November 30, 2005

Travel cheap

I mean, who cares what the flight is like, as long as you can trust the airline, not to crash the airplane. Okay, so it's not just me that thinks that, but people in general. The success of low-cost carriers like easyJet and RyanAir. So, what I do for a living, is make a low-cost carrier search system. The system itself is called SpeedFares and is targeted at business travel agencies as a complimentary system to their GDS (Global Travel Distribution System) which mainly includes classical airlines, like, SAS, KLM, Lufthansa, and the likes. So lately we've been toying with the idea of taking our search engine to the web. I've recently finished a "to-the-bones" version of the search engine. Programmed with Ajax techniques. It has a spiffy dropdown for choosing the cities to travel from and to, and a very cool dynamically updating price comparison page. In short I'm pretty proud of the result. So, if I caught your interest you can go see how you can travel cheap on Momondo for yourself. I hope you will like it, and that you will use it the next time you are going to go somewhere. If you feel any routes or carriers are missing feel free to leave me a note here.

Posted by Sune Trudslev in Entertainment, Technical at 09:05